SLR Acquires Hoefler Consulting Group

SLR Management Ltd announces the acquisition of Hoefler Consulting Group (HCG), a leading Alaska-based provider of environmental consulting services to clients in the energy, mining and natural resource management sectors.

Headquartered in Anchorage, HCG has 55 employees and offices in Fairbanks, Portland and Seattle. The company is a leading provider of air quality permitting and compliance, and land quality services. The combination of expertise will result in a total of 80 Alaska based employees and will allow SLR to further extend their industry leading expertise to clients in Alaska and throughout North America, Europe and Australasia.

SLR is a global environmental consultancy with 900 employees in 60 offices around the world. SLR acquired Australian consultancy Heggies Pty Ltd in February this year and has 140 employees working from 12 offices in Australia, New Zealand and Singapore. The Hoefler acquisition continues the integration and expansion of SLR's technical expertise across North America, Europe and Australasia.

SLR's core strategic planning and environmental services in the energy, mining, oil and gas industries as well as renewable power including wind, solar, energy-from-waste, hydropower and biomass. SLR is also the leading consultant to the waste management industry and undertakes a significant planning and environmental impact assessment work for major commercial and industrial developers.
